A 23-year-old lady's experience of getting her breast reduction and inverted nipple repair surgery with Indicure in India. Mrs Joseph is a young lady from Birmingham, UK, with a small baby. She is also studying to be a nurse. She is quite good looking and in shape, but wasn't very comfortable with her breast size. She loves swimming and wanted the perfect bikini body. She also had inverted nipples which she wanted corrected and get her spectacles removed. She had met cosmetic surgeons in UK but had been postponing the idea owing to high costs in her own country.

After much research, she decided that India is the perfect destination for her. Highly qualified surgeons, some of them even trained in UK and have practiced there for years before coming back to India and wonderful facilities. The costs were also quite affordable.

She could not come alone and thus her husband's main concern was safety while she was in India. He was very very apprehensive about how her wife would manage alone in India and if she would be safe. He had innumerable questions if his wife would be escorted during transfers and that too by a female, if she would be safe in her private room at the hospital, what about the recuperation part, pick up from the airport and all sorts of questions.

She was reaching India in the middle of night. Indicure representatives went to pick her at the airport and dropped her safely at the hospital, made her feel comfortable at the hospital, explained her everything about the hospital, about the procedure and how would the entire process be, which was already shared with her before coming back. She met the surgeon in the morning and underwent the surgery the same day. Her husband was sent updates about her wife every three hours to make him feel comfortable.

“I am surprised and thrilled with your patience to answer all my husband's questions to his satisfaction, which no one else could manage to provide. I am glad that I chose to come through Indicure. I surely would like to come back again, maybe 10 years later after my second child to get a tummy tuck done, 110% with Indicure. I am completely satisfied with the surgery, with your services and you guys delivered more than what you had promised. I strongly recommend Indicure to anyone looking to get plastic surgery get done in India”.
