“ A 21-year-old female patient describes her experience of getting her rhinoplasty surgery with Indicure in India. ”

Jane is an actor by profession and always wanted the perfect facial features which are very important for her profession. Her parents are of Indian origin, but Jane was born and brought up in England and had never been to India.

She wanted her nose correction in a way that does not alter the appearance of her face at all as that was very crucial for her. She had visited many plastic surgeons in England also, but wasn't very satisfied with them. She was looking for that surgeon who could give her exactly what she was looking for.

On her visit to Mumbai in April this year, she read about plastic surgery in India and that people are traveling from across the globe to get quality plastic surgery procedures at affordable prices in India. She contacted Indicure and asked if she could get what she was looking for.

She was apprehensive in sharing her pictures but was later convinced that Indicure is a professional organization and would keep respect of her privacy. She was impressed with the surgeon's opinion on seeing her pictures and then she decided to go and see the surgeon for a face to face consultation.

She described how exactly she wants her nose to look like after the surgery and took the picture of some actor whom she wanted her nose to be like to give surgeon a fair idea. The surgeon created her pictures through animation software to show her most likely results after the surgery. She was quite impressed with the doctor and the results which were shown on the computer.

She decided to undergo the surgery immediately without wasting any time. It's been four months now since her surgery and she is extremely happy with the results.

"I think it was God's design that I should come to India for a trip and get the nose I had been looking for such a long time. And the prices are unbelievable. In England, the surgeon would have done this procedure under local anesthesia and charged much more. Here, I was comfortably asleep in general anesthesia and was under medical supervision for two days till I was quite comfortable. I am so thrilled with the results and my entire experience, I recommend Indicure to everyone looking for plastic surgery. God bless"
